

KYMBERLEIGH'S FAMILY

Christmas

NEWSLETTER

All my family & friends know how much I love my kids!
And since there's no better time to rant about how they are my complete identity, I thought I'd share what's all happened in 2021

The Twins

KADEN & BRAYDEN

These two little trouble
makers keep me so busy!

These two are always going on about how hungry they are on their juice cleanse!
But the essential oils we gave them weren't fighting
our family's genetic dispositions (thanks Chad).
We need to detox and get them back to normal. How hungry could they be? They leech off my body,
stealing all my food for 8
months. Ugh.

They also fed our dear dog, Baxton, some food that was poisonous to him, so now he's cremated for $754) and on mantle, because I don't know what to do with these ashes and paw print.

Our Princess

MADDISYNN

On the list of things people don't warn you about when you're pregnant: your kid might one day put their hand in the diaper full of poop and run up to you with a poop covered hand screaming and then you have to wash the poop hand but on the way to sink poop hand grabs ahold of your shirt and now you have a poop shirt and while taking off poop shirt it drags across your arm so now you have poop arm and now we are all covered in poop and giving up on the day and it is only 930am.

Happy Holidays!

A LITTLE Update FROM ME

I gave Chad Ivermectin after hearing about the side effects. Low sperm count to stop having children - yes, please! I figure worse comes to worse, he'll pass away and I can collect on that life insurance. I'm not signing the divorce papers. We said TIL DEATH! :)